One block east of Washington Square Park

JOIN US!

Workers United/SEIU, in coalition with NYC Fire Dept., public and private school children, unions and community organizations host a ceremony every year to remember the fire that changed America. In 1911, 146 garment workers died in the tragic factory fire, most of them young, immigrant women.

“We Are All Workers” here and abroad is this year’s theme. We are rallying locally and across the nation around the cry for income equality, urging people to “Fight for Real Jobs, Real Wages and Real Rights.” We support immigration rights with a path to citizenship, safe workplaces and the right to organize. We support a living wage for low wage workers in the fast food restaurant and car wash industries, as well as airport workers. We also stand with workers in such places as Bangladesh, India and Cambodia who are fighting for workplace safety.
